

We are Hiring Interns!

Position #2: Copywriting Intern

The Studar Team, a young and diverse student start-up in The Hague, is looking for a new creative copywriter who will be gathering and writing content for the Studar app. Will you be our perfect fit?

Studar is a non-profit student organization based in The Hague. Our main goal is to ameliorate the student climate in The Hague by engaging local businesses and organizations. We want to facilitate student's lives by offering them all information and hotspots that they need to know as students in The Hague in a fun way!

Be the voice of Studar and write creative texts that will be promoting events, cool locations and even articles, with the help of the Studar team of course!

Outside of the Studar app, you will also help write content for the other social media's of Studar to keep the Studar voice as authentic as possible.

Our perfect fit would be:

- Fluent in English
- Good writing and language skills
- Well oriented in the world of marketing and communications
- Creative mindset and affinity with student life in The Hague
- Flexibility and availability in terms of working hours (30-40h a week)

What's in it for you as our perfect fit?

- Get the chance to build your network
- Improve and grow within or outside your department
- Get to go to cool events and enter for free
- An internship compensation
